

Truth IS...if your School Superintendent managed a chicken farm 30% to 50% of the eggs would be cracked.

The dropout rate at your Son's High School...is scandalous.

Don't worry. There's NO limit to your Son's imagination intelligence and wonder.

Success in school depends on how he feels...He must be proud of his school...

Teachers too, must love what they do.

So the mood, the atmosphere in the last two years of High School must be: "This is something I can use when I get old...maybe twenty-one.

Teenagers want to know, "How is what happened in 1492 going to put money in my wallet?"

Dr Frank Luntz in his research "Words That Work. " makes it clear...

"We know too much about things that really don't matter."

Your Son wants to know what matters; and he also is at a very emotional age...So, you better make it clear.

2.

Since the beginning of time...90% of all success has been driven by emotion and feelings. Only 10% depends on real cold facts...

Intuition and gut feelings are words that put Bill Gates on top of the world...Why not your Son?

As a youth counselor I discovered a Hassle-free way to kick your Son's many passions...into high gear.

I have helped so many Parents...They have been janitors, millionaires, police chiefs, sheriffs, ministers, high-ranking officers in the Service. Even a General in disguise...

They arrive in both limousines and dirty old taxis...all with love and pain-in their hearts...

I'll never forget, the son of a millionaire-robbed a bank. I insisted he solve his own problem. He did.

All I did was listen and let him know I cared. I asked simple questions and give him...what he called “The sound of music to my ears.”

Familiar quotations that helped him think about himself and his problems...

A reporter asked him: “What would you do with your life if you had not come to jail?”

With tears in his eyes, he said, “I would not be as dumb...as most adults I have known.”

Sadly, he did not know there is no such thing as a perfect parent...We are all learning as we go along...

Hundreds of hours...just listening have taught me, teenage boys are a piece of cake...

3.

I Have Never Known a Teenager Who Did Not Want To Solve His Own Problem...Never, Never, Never!!!

All he wants IS love and self-expression...Why do I write? I want you to let me help you-- help your Son.

He knows what he wants to learn – but he has a problem...When MOM is out of sight...you here what he thinks is true... “Adults just don’t listen.”

Get ready for proof that will help you and your Son find more success...more than you ever dreamed possible...

Dear MOM,

Let’s not be timid, your Son’s lifestyle is at stake here...

97% of all students lose interest in the last two years of High School.

Building your Son's understanding of the world is like building anything...you need a blueprint first.

In his last years of High School your Son wants practical information. Classes that will fill his wallet...give him a Goal (His goal—NOT your goal.) His search is on...and I can show you how to help him focus...

HE deserves the discovery of FREEDOM.

- To work where he wants.
- To live where he wants.
- To work with whom he wants.

A slight problem: Profit and loss – Success in Business...is NOT a High School Passion.

4.

Quotations in my book, "Bringing Forth the Man," prove our school system--the last two years...has not changed -- not matured.

In fact it's as immature as my friend Michael...who managed to become a senior in High School without learning to read...

Our school system administrators have not learned to listen...to History and all of the great thinkers...

Growing, changing, getting better, has been their passion...Goethe said, "All I want to do is discover all of the talent I have been given."

Thomas Edison's passion was...to grow a little-bit-each-day...
10,000 so called mistakes created today's light-bulb...

It makes no difference if it is Columbus sailing the ocean blue...or Henry Ford with black or blue model T Fords...

The adventure and results are all that matter.

Management Is Management.

Don't believe me? Google the words Management and Leadership...

You can spend a lifetime studying these pages. That's me in spades.

There is no reason for us... Not to have the best schools in the world...

I can prove my education theories...I left home at the age of 14 -- dumb as a sack of hammers...but, this old boy knows how to listen...

YOUR SON SHOULD STAY IN SCHOOL BECAUSE HE WANTS TOO.

He wants the top-spot...PLEASE; Let me show you how to take your Son to a level and a FOCUS...he never dreamed possible.

MOM...If your son is not GIDDY...with excitement the last two years of High School...Your Superintendent has lost his passion for winning every game he plays...

No longer keeping score...He has no strategy. No game plan. What's the old quotation: "If you have no plan for tomorrow...you plan to fail..."

*Why in the world...would you buy a product...expecting you may use it someday?
It makes as much sense as a closet filled with a thousand pairs of shoes.*

Let me help your Son see the Sunny Side of Life...I can't think of a reason to be anything but – "So glad to be here."

Effective teaching...at your Son's age...is answering questions...not preaching. Not studying what they call "Dumb Stuff."

He wants answers to adult problems. He thinks he deserves all that "mature talk."

Like it or not teenagers are...or will be in control...If adults give respect -- they will get respect...plus practical, useable, good manners in return...

TODAY -- THE JUNIOR AND SENIOR YEARS OF HIGH SCHOOLS ..."BORDER ON SILLY."

Your Son can learn more about moneymaking in one hour...because he wants too-- than he will all day in regular classes.

I studied algebra and sciences fifty years ago...haven't made a dime on it yet.

Imagine this...or make a guess..."How many students waste their time with mandatory classes designed by dingy politicians and PhD's?"

6.

Read Lin Yutang... “The wrong reason for education!” This explains the real value of education...It’s on Page 141 in “Bringing Forth the Man.”

NOT one word...at the ripe old age of sixteen is focused -- on putting money in your son’s pocket!

Hundreds of young men I have had the pleasure of “kicking-it-with,” think adults are some kind of nuts. But let’s not waste your time and mine.

Your teenage son’s self-interest IS a huge driving energy...totally ignored by your Education System.

Please this is so important...Remember; he can’t stand being a Momma’s boy.

Your Son Wants To Be His Own Man!

Not a political slave or puppet...to a paper shuffling Administrator...I know that’s not nice...But somebody has to speak up against waste...

Natural energy...intense interest...is a force that has motivated many famous people...

Why in the hell...not your SON?

He seriously...wants to educate himself, but he doesn’t know where to begin...Remember, as a little guy...“Let me do it MOM.”

This is as natural as natural can be...You and I are all-curious, and we need a plan...

I focus on words because they are like FIRE...they can light the way or burn the house down...

With his...can-do...thinking he knows he has to pack his own bag with tools that work.

7.

- How to live Life.
- Discover...what real Love is?
- How to get over the Money...hump...

The Junior and Senior years are boring...a killer...and in teenage words...“A waste of time, without a dime.”

When your son is fourteen to eighteen he thinks-he is ready to roll... “Enthusiasm” IS intense if he can focus on one word at a time...

He wants to get in the saddle...What is real life? So many questions: "Give me responsibility and truth!"

Believe it or not...your Superintendent has the Power to design a class that will make your Son...Shine in the darkest...home or classroom...

I think it's obvious...

"SCHOOLS ARE LEAVING BIG-BUCKS ON THE TABLE."

My twenty years counseling teenagers taught me...deep study of one-word-at-a time creates excitement...A whole new world.

For years I focused on the serious side of...life, love and liberty...Think about...It's all your SON really wants!

My claim to fame has been...(with tongue in cheek.) "I'm the worlds best listener." Loved every minute of it. Yep, I do have his wish list...and enough questions to choke a horse

Hundreds of young men I have worked with think High School "sucks."
Nothing shakes him up like a mandatory class.

"People who think they know what you need--don't have a clue...Ask Bill Gates.

8.

"YOU WON'T AMOUNT TO A HILL OF BEANS."

So many students have heard this hundreds of times. He doesn't believe it for a minute...so; he knows...he has to call his own shots.

Teenagers teach us all if we listen...

Secret #1 Even if it's wrong...he will think and act on what he wants...and nothing on this earth is going to Stop him... My book will give him a clue—"this is what I need to do" and he will...Because he is doing it himself...

Secret # 2 He is tired of being treated like a puppy-dog that needs to be house broken. I often suggest...tell me your new passion. I'll help you hit the target. There is a way. Guaranteed. Read Page 128. in my book. "Bringing Forth the Man."

Secret #3 Your Son is bored with Elementary Style Classrooms. Today

he is looking for the money...Tomorrow, even more important...what really counts...

- 1.) His feelings
- 2.) His goals
- 3.) When will you listen to me?
- 4.) When will I find love?
- 5.) How can I stop making mistakes?
- 6.) Will I be a good parent?
- 7.) Can I be a Better teacher?
- 8.) Can I astonish friends and family with success?

Remember all the questions he ask when he was a baby. Get ready -- he has now graduated to a higher level.

Your Son is a busy guy...focused on the future--always loaded he thinks with more problems than MOM...

His words dramatically make it clear...the last two years of High School are a...rip-off -- unless he has a Football and a Girlfriend!

9. Problem! Your School Superintendent does not see the big picture. His training is too academic, not focused on your Son's wants and needs.

Who am I to suggest your Head Honcho is not doing his job?

My years of research and twenty years of listening to parents, teachers, and teenagers!
